'TWILL BE BUILT.

President Woodford on the New Station.

THE PLANS NOT YET PREPARED.

But They Soon Will Be—The Location of the Building Has Not Been Positively Decided Upon—Says That the Building Will be a Credit to the City.

W. R. Woodford, president and general manager of the C., L. & W. railway, arrived in this city in his special car from a business trip on the south end of the road, at 3:15 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. At the Massillon station he was met by Mayor Wise, with whom he conferred in regard to the new depot whose erection Massillonians are awaiting.

"Yes," said Mr. Woodford, in answer to the inquiry of an Independent representative, "you can assure the people of Massillon that they are going to have a new station. When you do it though, you should give all due credit to your mayor, who has persistently urged the matter upon our consideration for a year or more past, and whose energetic services in securing options on the property desired were invaluable to us. Of course, we have intended right along to give Massillon the new station. The town is one of the best along our line, and we have always had a kindly feeling for it. This intention accounts for the comparatively little repairing that we have been doing about our property here recently. Affairs are in such shape now, however, as to enable us to act without further delay.

"No, the statements that plans have been prepared are incorrect, as is also that of a Cleveland paper which stated that $31,000 would be expended in the work. That sum is a trifle excessive. The people of Massillon can rest assured, though, that the station that the C., L. & W. Company will erect, will be thoroughly modern and a credit to the city and worthy of the unselfish efforts exerted by Mayor Wise. We have as yet not positively decided as to its location. It will be located either on the Spuhler lot, on the south side of West Main street, for the transfer of which the deeds will be made out this afternoon, or upon the site of the present station building, in which latter event, we may move the freight house across the road. You see the aim of the officials is to separate the passenger station from the freight house.

"When are we going to start to work? Well, our engineers have been very busy along the road during the summer months, but we expect to get them here soon, perhaps in a week or two, to do the preliminary work. As you may know, a change in track arrangements will be involved. This work done, we will begin to cut down the hill on the Spuhler lot immediately. We may have the construction work well under way by the time that the snow flies, or at least such will be our endeavor."

A SOLDIER'S WEDDING.

Max Dingler, Married Wednesday, Will Leave Saturday.

Max Dingler, married to Miss Florence Wendling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wendling, of 64 Duncan street, on Wednesday, leaves on Saturday to join his regiment, the Twenty-ninth United States Infantry, at Fort Sheridan, Ill. Mr. Dingler, who enlisted from this city last May, arrived home on a ten days'. furlough in the earlier part of the week. Within four weeks he expects his regiment to receive a call to embark for the Philippines, for two years, service. Mrs. Dingler will remain in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Dingler are at present at the home of the bride's parents.

ANOTHER CARRIER.

Postmaster Koons Receives Official Notice at Noon.

Postmaster L. A. Koons at noon on Thursday received official notice from the postal department at Washington that another carrier had been allowed to the Massillon office, to take effect on October 1. The present substitute, John F. Thompson, will be nominated for the position, and Ralph Snyder, who stands next in line with Mr. Thompson, will be nominated for substitute. The appointment will involve a redistricting of the city, the force then numbering eleven carriers. Postmaster Koons had asked for two extra cariers, but the department allowed but one.

ANOTHER UNION.

Massillon-Canton Street Railway Men Now Organized.

The employes of the Canton-Massillon electric street car lines were organized Wednesday evening with a membership of 56. The organization will be known as the Canton-Massillon Electric Street Railway Union No. 211 and will be under the jurisdiction of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America. The following officers were elected and installed: President, John Oldfield, Canton; first vice president, S. Goudy, Massillon; second vice president, Thomas J. Molloy, Canton; recording secretary, W. S. Reinhart, Canton; financial secretary, Adam Felix, Canton; treasurer, S. O. Exline, Canton; conductor, S. B. Tressel, Canton; warden, V. L. Elsasser, Canton.

A GREAT INCREASE.

Effect of Crop Failure on Hospital Expenses.

WORK ON AMUSEMENT HALL.

Dances Will Again Be Held in the Dining Hall, Until the Amusement Building is Completed—Waiting for Frescoers—The Institution News.

As is the rule generally in this section of the country, the continued drouth of July and August has worked havoc with the crops on the state hospital farm, and they are far from a success. Superintendent Eyman states that the failure means an increase in the institution's expenses, of $10,000 a year. Ten bushels of potatoes alone are required for one meal in the dining room, and with potatoes selling at $1.60 per bushel this item alone amounts to $16 per meal.

The weekly Friday evening dances are to be resumed in September. Superintendent Eyman had hoped that the new amusement hall would be ready for occupancy by the time of their resumption, but the present prospects are otherwise. Everything is completed except the frescoing and the floor work, which latter will not be done until the artists have done with their work. Scaffolding and everything are ready for the artists, but their arrival has been somewhat tardy. The dances will be held in the dining hall until the completion of the amusement hall.

Further building operations at the hospital depend upon the appropriation of next winter's legislature. Dr. Eyman is hopeful of securing a large sum this year, as the hospital funds are overdrawn but $16,000, and this by the authority of the emergency board. Last year the hospital had an unauthorized shortage of $65,000 when the appropriation was asked for.

If material were the only element for consideration, the state hospital would undoubtedly boast of a first-class eleven on the football gridiron this fall. There are a number of experienced players in the institution, to say nothing of new material that could not be surpassed. Dr. Eyman, although an enthusiast, is hesitating in allowing the hospital to put a team into the field.

Miss Grace L. Boone, secretary to Superintendent Eyman, left today for a vacation visit of ten days at her home in Salem.

Dr. Caroline Colver, of the physicians staff, is spending her vacation at Lansing, Mich., and at the Pan-American exposition.

Miss Julia Hoard, who has been visiting Miss Edith Eyman for several weeks past, has returned to her home near Huntington, W. Va.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

The Meeting of 1902 Will be Held in Canton.

East Liverpool, Aug. 23.—Canton was selected as the 1902 meeting place by the Ohio district convention of the Sons of St. George, which adjourned today. Candidates for grand officers who are to be elected by lodges prior to the next convention were named as follows: President, Thomas Austin, Cleveland; S. W. Smith, Canton. Vice president, George Erskine, Anderson, Ind.; Robert Williams, East Liverpool. Secretary, Fred Stork, Cleveland; Thomas Booth, Youngstown. Treasurer, E. E. Ashby, Cleveland.

STRIKE SITUATION.

A Summary of Present Conditions.

BOTH SIDES ARE SATISFIED.

Association Predicts Very Important Changes During the Coming Week Which Will Bring Matters to an Early Settlement.

Pittsburg, Aug. 24.—A summary of the strike situation at the close of another week, shows the conditions to be about as follows:

Pittsburg—Star mill; two mills running; strikers say five more men left the plant and joined their ranks, but management positively denies the statement. Painter mill—Four mills running; fires lighted in bar mill furnaces, but failed to start as expected; Pennsylvania tube works—Mill idle; machinists say they will quit tonight. All Carnegie mills running full.

Later—Yesterday's conference having been barren of results, there is no change in the strike situation at the end of the sixth week. It is understood no effort was made in the conference to extend the strike to affiliated trades. The steel company men say the idle plants of the National Steel Company at Bellaire will be started next week.

Lisbon—Fires started in the plate plant. Manager George Evans says everything in readiness for start soon with plenty of men. Strikers voted today to remain out and mill is strongly picketed.

McKeesport—Demmler plant idle and no attempt will be made to start it before next week. Everything else closed down.

Irondale—Mill running with same force as yesterday.

Wellsville—Situation unchanged; twelve mills running.

Wheeling—Everything tied up and no apparent indication of an attempt to start any of the mills.

Bellaire—The National Steel Co.'s idle plant will, it is said, be started early next week by a full force of men.

Canal Dover—Situation unchanged: building arranged for accommodation of men within the mill, and announcement made that works will be in operation within a few days; strikers watching for importation of non-union men, and trouble feared on their arrival.

No late advices have been received of the Amalgamated officials from either Bay View or Joliet and the situation at those points is considered by them to be unchanged. The conference of the labor leaders at the offices of the Amalgamated Association was the leading feature of the strike during Friday. The officials of the organization all seemed pleased with the way things were moving and one of them said somewhat mysteriously: "In another six days you will see a decided change in the strike that will tell with greater effect on the trust and aid in hurrying the final outcome of this struggle." Just what this change is to be, was not said, but it was inferred strongly that the coming event hinged upon the conference that was taking place.

The strikers make the claim that very little work has been done by the combine in any of its plants since the strike began and that what product has been turned out has been of an inferior character. Notwithstanding this the steel officials declare themselves well pleased with the condition of affairs and say all the mills started are working satisfactorily and turning out good product. Attention was called to a former statement by the officers of the corporation that while delays would necessarily occur in operating the idle plants that it would not deter the officials from proceeding along the same lines and that they were prepared to spend all the time and money necessary to fight the union and make all of the plants non-union in the end.

HIRING STRIKE BREAKERS.

One Agency Trying to Secure Five Hundred.

Philadelphia, Aug. 24.—The C. M. Machold agency, 120 South Sixth street, is trying to hire five hundred strike breakers to go to Pittsburg, to break the strike of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. The men are to be sent to the Star tin plate works. Wages are offered on last year's scale, and protection is guaranteed all who will hire. The rates of wages vary from $2.50 to $9.25 a day.

CHINESE SLOW IN SIGNING.

Li Hung Chang Denounced by His Country men.

Pekin, Aug. 24.—The delay of the Chinese plenipotentiaries in signing the protocol is causing some uneasiness in the foreign community here, although the ministers of the powers do not think that China intends to defy the powers by ultimately refusing to sign. Indeed, they believe China is anxious to wind up the negotiations speedily. Decrees reciting the punishments and suspending the examinations will be issued before the Chinese signatures are affixed.

Li Hung Chang, having practicaly conducted all the active negotiations, has retired into the background, leaving to Prince Ching the responsibility of consummating the work. Earl Li finds himself in the same precarious position that he occupied at the close of the negotiations following the war with Japan. The native press is unanimous in violently denouncing him for what is called his surrender to the foreigners; and a number of officials have petitioned the emperor to punish him for betraying his country.

SECURING OHIO COAL LANDS.

Same Syndicate Controls the Massillon District.

Akron, O., Aug. 24.—A syndicate of Cleveland men at the head of which is said to be Daniel R. Hanna, is securing options on all the coal properties in Summit county and in the vicinity of Wadsworth and Doylestown. This includes the Silver Creek mines which were not consolidated when other parts of the Massillon district were acquired by a big Cleveland company recently.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Will Meet in the Canton High School, August 26-30.

The thirty-seventh annual session of the Teachers Institute Association will be held in the high school building at Canton, August 26-30. Excellent instructors have been secured for all the sessions, and an unusually interesting programme has been arranged. Massillon Attendance at Fair is Great.

STORIES OF THE EXPOSITION.

A Word of Advice as to Barbers and Elevators—Army Week Found Many Massillonians on Hand to See General Miles and the Young Men From West Point.

P. A. Grounds, Buffalo, Aug. 24.—The men at the Ohio building say that the exposition is visited by more people from Massillon than from any other city in the state, not barring Ashtabula and other places having direct transportation facilities. The register does not show a day when there were no Massillon visitors.

The policemen, with their height and breadth, gold cords and well-fitting uniforms, form one of the fine features of the fair, and yet one cannot refrain from calling to mind a certain knight of the club back in Massillon whose equal he does not find in any of his brethren here, though he hears much about the care with which these patrolmen were selected. Occasional visitors have been telling Massillon for years that it has the ideal in Policeman Ed. Ertle, and the convincing can be found in Buffalo and at the fair.

Joseph Adams, who lived in Massillon a number of years ago, having been associated with J. C. Corns in the iron and steel business, with Mrs. Adams, met many Massillonians here during the past week. Mr. Adams is now located in Muncie, Ind.

Howard Hagan, of Massillon, no longer through a megaphone expatiates upon the virtues of the "House Upside Down" attraction. The successful announcer's way is rose-strewn, for his services are always in demand, and a princely sum his portion. It seems an accepted fact that Mr. Hagan leads in his profession. His talents are now making popular one of the outside attractions.

George F. Hammond, the architect of the two proposed Massillon school buildings, was a visitor at the exposition last week. He found more enjoyment in the contemplation of the buildings from without than in the examination of their contents.

Massillonians here last week enjoyed the distinction of being a part of the largest crowd that the immense Stadium has ever held. This mammoth place, which is otherwise known as the Colosseum, has a seating capacity of 12,000. Its largest crowd, previous to last week, was 15,000, but on the afternoon that General Miles reviewed the chesty young men from West Point the attendance exceeded that figure by somewhat more than a thousand. It was here that Iver Lawson won over Major Taylor and Frank Kramer in the bicycle races on the same day. The Stadium is all that the name implies.

Most people here agree that three days is sufficient time in which to see the fair thoroughly. Sightseeing, of course, is more or less of a science, and the nearest thing to a work of rudiments that a novice can procure is a map of the grounds. With this he should familiarize himself thoroughly, and he will find it an excellent guide. If one cares for nothing else, the electrical and the art displays are alone worth the small expenditure Massillonians are required to make to get here. Kenyon Cox says that the art exhibit is the most extensive and magnificent that this country has ever seen. There are scores of buildings, but a leisurely passing through is all that one need give many of them. The exhibits in the government buildings are worthy of much attention. They are the best on the grounds. One can spend half a day profitably looking them over. The temple of music is a good place to go for a couple of hours, sometimes.

"Trifle with the bunco man, play every machine game in the city, try to beat out the man with the wheel, but lay not yourself open to the subtle and seductive Buffalo barber," is the advice that one Massillonian wants to send to his friends. This citizen, though needing only a shave, believed the tonsorial artist when he observed that a couple of hundred miles of travel was hard on the complexion. He acquiesced when the barber suggested a cleaning up. It was all over in forty-five minutes—was the singeing, pinching and patting—and then the Massillonian was marched up to the cashier's desk where he counted out $1.75 as if he had been doing it all his life. He had learned a thing or two, but his wisdom made him sad for the remainder of the day.

"The word of advice that I should like to give to the Niagara Falls bound people," said another Massillonian, "is that they enter no places that are too ostentatiously free. I found such a place down about the Whirlpool Rapids. You crowd into an elevator, and down to the rapids you go. You see everything, you jolly the boy and girl with souvenirs and other things for sale, you go up the elevator again, and you congratulate yourself that it was all free. Then you hear a man call out 'This way to the exit,' and you go where he says. A good deal depends upon how you look. Some get out for fifty cents, and some it costs a dollar. My companion, who preceded me, escaped for fifty cents. They wanted to charge me a dollar. I stalled, and they came down to fifty cents. It was hard money to give up, but I couldn't see anything else to do."

There is also a bit of a story going about in the Massillon colony of a party of Massillonians and Cantonians which, the other day, met a smooth stranger, played his game and then telegraphed home for money.

TO HAVE NO VOTE

Suffrage Does not Extend to Special Elections.

BOARD DISCUSSES THE MATTER

The Board Does Not Feel Disposed to Lower Rates of Tuition for Outside Students—Schools Will Open on September 9—I. M. Taggart Re-elected Examiner—L. L. Nave Resigns as Examiner.

Does the state law which gives to woman a vote in all board of education matters, enfranchise her to such an extent as to allow her to vote at special elections, where the question to be decided is the expenditure of money for school building purposes? This is the question that was presented squarely to the board of education at its regular meeting on Friday evening, all members, save Mr. Fox, present. The enacting law was quiet on the subject, but research revealed to the members decisions that clearly held that it did not. As a result, although all members of the board deem it a great injustice, the women of Massillon, no matter how heavy taxpayers they are, will have no voice in the special election of September 7, when the question of issuing $80,000 worth of bonds for the construction of the new Franklin and Oak Park schoolhouses, as they have been named, will be submitted to the qualified electors of the district.

A communication was received from Lawrence township residents, inquiring as to the rates of tuition that the board would exact from the Boxwell pupils who would be sent to the Massillon high school during the coming winter. The present rate is $40 per year, and the Lawrence township citizens evidently regarded it as a little high. The board, however, was disposed to make no change, one member facetiously advising that if a cheap school were desired that inquiries be made at Canton.

On motion of Mrs. Shoemaker, I. M. Taggart was re-elected city examiner of teachers for a term of three years, beginning August 31. The resignation of L. L. Nave, for many years a member of the board of city examiners, was received by the board. No action was taken, in the hope that Mr. Nave might be induced to reconsider the resignation.

The date for the opening of the schools came up for discussion. Although the Tuesday after Labor Day is the usual date for beginning, the board thought that in view of the fact that the Stark county fair would be in full blast during that week, it would be advisable to postpone the date until September 9. This was done on Miss Fogler's motion.

All bills were ordered paid.

UNION LABEL

MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1901.

Brother William Jennings Bryan, of the Commoner, has bought a controlling interest in a large tract of oil lands in Wyoming. Presently he will be an oil magnate. Thus continues the accursed thirst for gold. One by one the idols fall.

Professor Atkinson, superintendent of schools in the Philippine islands, announces that he will have to ask for another 1,000 American school teachers. Every pacified town on the islands is asking for schools and a chance to learn English. In many places army officers and soldiers are instructing the natives. This does not look as though the Filipinos were rejecting "American influences" with any noteworthy degree of violence.

The Independent is indebted to Fireman C. L Baatz, of the Massillon fire department, for an interesting description of the findings in the Indian mound recently opened by him west of the city. Reproductions of photographs showing the mound and the valuable specimens found in it accompany Mr. Baatz's report which appears on another page. Mr. Baatz, who is one of the recognized authorities on things archaeological, worked quietly from the time of the location of the supposed mound until the find was made. He has since then made a careful study of the specimens, and the latter are now on exhibition in one of his cabinets in the central engine house, where many gaze at them daily.

In his financial review for the present week Henry Clews calls attention to the figures published by the treasury department giving our coal production during the past fifteen years, which, as he truly says, are as surprising as they are gratifying. Coal is the very soul of industrial life. The United States in 1886, produced 100,664,000 tons of coal and in 1900 the production was 245,422,000 tons, an increase of very nearly 150 per cent in fifteen years, while Great Britain increased her coal output, during the same period, only about 50 per cent—from 157,518,000 tons in 1886 to 225,181,000 tons in 1900. The foregoing figures are their own most eloquent heralds.

Over 5,000,000 persons, or nearly 6 per cent of our entire population, are dependent on the steam railroads of the country for a livelihood. The railroad business is what the free trade trust would call a "non-protected industry," and yet there is no other industry which is so quickly and so largely affected by the tariff. A comparison of figures showing the difference between conditions for the years ending June 30, 1896, and 1900, proves this fact beyond question. Nearly 200,000 more employes, $11,000,000 more wages, and 434,000,000 tons more freight are shown for 1900 and yet both passenger and freight rates have been reduced, and at the end of the fiscal year 1900 there was a surplus of $87,000,000, against a surplus of $1,500,000 in 1896. The figures for 1901 will not be compiled for some months, but it is known that they will materially increase the figures of 1900.

The industrial commission has prepared a review of all the evidence heard by the commission on the mining industries of the United States. No attempt is made to draw conclusions, or to make recommendations, but attention is called to points on which there was a substantial agreement by witnesses and to other points in which there was a wide divergence of opinion. Especial attention is paid to the relations of employes and employed in the coal fields and to the Coeur d'Alene riot and subsequent events in Idaho. The desirability of formal agreements between organizations of employers and organizations of employes, determining wages and hours and other conditions of labor for fixed periods was a matter of general agreement among the witnesses who referred to it. The summary concludes: It seems to be agreed that the operators as well as the miners benefit by the agreement system. The number of disputes and strikes is greatly diminished and the several districts and the several operators within each district are put upon a fairer basis of competition with each other. The uniformity of conditions which the agreements introduce is a matter of congratulation to those who are brought under them.

Prison labor is cheap labor. The American Economist uses this example to show that in the competition between the products of prison labor and the products of free trade, exactly the same principle is involved as is involved between the products of European pauper labor and the products of well paid American labor. The prison laborer is not a laborer of high efficiency because he has no incentive to work; he has little or no personal interest in the results of his labor. His comparative lack of efficiency, however, does not make up the difference in wages, and the cost of production is lower in prison made goods of like character. The European laborer is less efficient than the American laborer. He has less to work for and he is less intelligent, but his comparative lack of efficiency is, in all industries in which hand labor is largely employed, more than compensated for by the lack of wages. The invention of improved machinery and the large investment of capital in such machinery in this country has in some cases counterbalanced the difference in wages, but in general the question between protection and free trade is, as it has always been a question of wages, and the great purpose of the protective tariff is, as it has always been, to keep American wages at the American standard and above the level of the pauper wages of Europe

ENGINEERS' OUTING.

An Enjoyable Picnic at Maxheimer's Grove.

The Home Association, No. 14, met on Tuesday night in due form, and instructed President W. E. Lewis, through the columns of The Independent to offer their heartfelt thanks to all those who so kiindly assisted them in making the first anniversary of their Association a grand success and a meeting long to be remembered. Nine o'clock found the committee of arrangements on the grounds, ready to receive the members and their families who began to arrive at 10 o'clock with well-filled baskets. The last load of Massillon engineers arrived at 10:30, accompanied by Mayor Wise and President W. E. Lewis. On their arrival they were greatly surprised to find the tables already prepared, with a seating capacity of 70, and the wives of the engineers, assisted by Miss Emma Stoner and William Stoner, busily engaged in placing upon them a most sumptuous meal. At 12 o'clock all present were invited to partake of the hospitality of No. 14, and as many as could be seated were soon engaged in disposing of the good things provided. At 12:30 the tables were again filled to their utmost capacity. At 1 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Volkmor and daughter, invited guests of the association, appeared on the scene, and Mr. Volkmor soon had the party arranged and succeeded in getting an excellent photograph of the group. The picture, which is 11x17 inches in size, may be seen at Mr. Volkner's studio, or at the engineer's hall. The Rev. N. E. Moffit then delivered an address which was thoroughly appreciated by all present. He was followed by W. E. Lewis, who spoke on the aims and objects of the engineers' association, and D. W. Heinbuch dwelt on the growth of the organization. "Nobody's Child," by Miss Corinne Snyder, "The Two Roads," by Mrs. J. P. Heinbuch, and the address by Mayor Wise, "The Conductor of the 3:50 Train," were listened to attentively.

The tug-of-war between teams, one headed by Mayor Wise and the other by W. E. Lewis, resulted in a fierce struggle. After an awful strain of ten minutes, Mr. Lewis, wishing to avoid the breaking of the rope, and the consequent splash of humanity, gave up the honors to the Wise team.

The tug-of-war was followed by a game of foot ball. One team, chosen from among the engineers, was captained by P. O. Cecil, the other, selected from among the guests, was led by Mayor Wise. Owing to the fact that the engineers had partaken too freely of the bounteous dinner, and the slippery condition of the grounds, they were again defeated.

Then followed foot races between fat men, lean men, and races for boys and girls.

Quite a party, headed by Mayor Wise and P. O. Cecil, went to the mine nearby, and through the kindness of the engineers were lowered two hundred and ten feet into the earth, from which point they could view the picnic grounds from underneath.

On returning to the picnic grounds the conveyances were found waiting, but before leaving a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. William Maxheimer for the use of the grounds, and to Miss Emma Stoner for her kindness in assisting the ladies in preparing the feast. After wishing each other a safe journey home, and expressing the hope that all would meet again at the engineers' outing in 1902, they all returned to their respective homes.

MILK ORDINANCE DISCUSSED.

Claims that Conference Between Council Committee and Milkmen Was Proper, and Not to be Compared With a Consultation With Gamblers.

To the Editor of THE INDEPENDENT:

An article published in a local paper, under the head of "Massillon Council Scored by Dr. Miller," quotes Dr. Miller as saying, in regard to the milk ordinance, among other things, "there has been a lot of needless agitation and considerable talk; the greater portion has come from the milkmen themselves." Yes, there has been some talk about this proposed ordinance by the milkmen, and I think rightfully so, as they are the men who are to be affected thereby; many of them have been in the business for years and have invested large sums of money in their herds and equipments in order to bring their business up to the present standard of perfection which, no one will deny, is first-class. Dr. Miller further says, "one of the ridiculous things about this affair is the fact that the councilmanic committee met with the milkmen of the community and interchanged views on the ordinance. The milkmen selected an attorney who also met with the councilmen and attemtped to set forth the rights of his clients in this respect. It strikes me as being decidedly humorous that the council should call into conference the very men at whom the ordinance is aimed. It is as though the city was about to pass a law regulating gambling, and before acting upon the matter called in the gamblers asking their advice and soliciting their amendments."

It does not appear to me strange or ridiculous, Dr. Miller's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, that the committee having in charge this ordinance for the purpose of investigating and recommending it to the council for passage, amendment or rejection, should for that purpose desire to inform themselves properly in regard to their duties, and how could they do this without canvassing the whole matter? And for that purpose they invited, as I have learned, the milkmen themselves and Dr. Miller, the health officer, who says he drew the ordinance after getting all the light upon the subject he could, to meet with them. A meeting of that kind was held; Dr. Miller was the first man on the ground, the committee of the council went through the proposed ordinance by sections and invited a free discussion of each section, which was participated in by the milkmen and also by Dr. Miller. There was no attempt on the part of the milkmen's attorney to set forth the rights of his clients at that meeting by any argument or suggestion on his part, as Dr. Miller and all who were present must admit. The discussion and all of it was had by the milkmen, Dr. Miller and the committee. The attorney did not say a word in regard to the matter.

So far as Mr. Miller's statement about regulating gamblers is concerned, his remarks are very improper and the case he makes is not a parallel one. Gamblers are criminals; are the milkmen criminals? Gamblers are violators of the law; who dare say that this score or more of respectable farmers and dairymen are pursuing an unlawful and criminal business? Who among all of the people, who, as Dr. Miller says, consume the milk and feed it to their children, is willing to say that these milkmen are bad men, and are vending an unwholesome product? If any one knows this the laws are ample, and the courts are open for any of the citizens or the health officer to arrest them and have them tried before a proper tribunal. Dr. Miller further says: "Another fallacy, which I see has crept into this controversy, is the opinion advanced by the milkmen's attorney and shared by some people that this testing process is going to be a very elaborate and expensive one. Nothing of the kind. The ordinance in its present shape does not provide for the tuberculin test. The inspection which we demand is probably more superficial than it should be. A veterinary can easily pass upon a herd of thirty cows in a few hours and at a cost to the owner of the diary of not over two or three dollars." This talk about inspection (which is provided for in section 4 of the proposed ordinance) is so strange that I could think Dr. Miller had been misquoted, were it not for the fact, that after making this statement to the reporter he said substantially the same thing to me. No, the ordinance does not provide for the tuberculin or any other specific test, but it does provide in section 4 substantially as follows: That no milk shall be sold or offered for sale in the city of Massillon until the certificate of a veterinary surgeon, acceptable to the board of health, has been filed with the board of health, certifying the condition of the cows. Now I ask in all candor whether a respectable veterinary would be willing to make an inspection and certify over his signature to the condition of the cows, without employing every means known to the profession in making the inspection and that at the rate of three dollars for 30 head, or ten cents apiece. "Superficial" says Dr. Miller. Such an inspection must needs be very superficial to be accomplished in a few hours; and what protection would that afford to the people who consume this milk and feed their children upon it, for whose protection this ordinance is proposed. Consistency thou art a jewel.

Dr. Miller further says: "Now that the council has washed its hands of the ordinance, I suppose that the board will lose no time in passing it." On that point I wish to say, that according to the doctor's interpretation of the voluminous ordinance with its nineteen sections, when it is passed, if passed in its present condition, it will be no safeguard to the health of citizens of Massillon.

As the attorney for the milkmen, referred to by Dr. Miller, I have had something to say on this subject, and what I have said upon the subject has been in open council meetings, and among other things I have said that my clients, the milkmen, court investigation of their acts and inspection of their wares, their herds and dairies, of which they are proud, but they do not propose to pay for unwarranted inspections such as this ordinance demands. I also said in that connection, and I now repeat, that an inspection such as this proposed ordinance outlined, would be very expensive if thoroughly made by a competent person; that it meant to the farmers or milkmen at least ten dollars a day and that no herd could in my opinion be properly inspected where there were from twenty to thirty cows, in less than four or five days; this according to the ordinance must be done and certified twice a year. I further remark in that connection, that according to well known usages and customs in the business world, if these men are put to this additional expense they will have to charge more for their milk.

Therefore, I do not see why any one should object to having a public act thoroughly investigated and discussed; I do not see why the recommendations and acts of the board of health are any more sacred or privileged from inspection and criticism than any other branch of our city government; I cannot understand why the board of health should insist that the council should pass this, or any other measure or resolution, whether it be right or wrong, lawful or unlawful without change or amendment simply because it is the will of the board of health.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Was That of Isaac Sandwith and Son Jonathan.

North Lawrence, August 21.—Isaac Sandwith and son Jonathan today admit that their escape from instant death in Klondike mine, No. 3, late on Wednesday afternoon, was near enough to the miraculous for all practical purposes. Sandwith and son had gone back to fire a second shot, their first having failed to go off. A shot in a neighboring room went off just as they were going by. They owe their escape simply to the fact that the shot "stood." As it was they were struck by small pieces of coal that flew in all directions and the cuts that cover their bodies number a multitude

Andrew Arnott, the miner who was injured in Klondike No. 3 by a fall of rock, on Wednesday afternoon, passed a restful night, and his physicians, Dr. Jones, of Canal Fulton, and Dr. Lawrence, of North Lawrence, are confident of his recovery. His injuries are confined to his back.

Thomas Brown, one of Lawrence's prominent business men, left this week for his old home in Scotland, where he will spend several months reviving old associations. Harry Dale will have charge of his business interests during his absence.

Now that all insurance claims have been satisfactorily adjusted the sufferers in the recent fire are in consultation with contractors with reference to rebuilding. Johnson Brothers and Fred Farmer, two of the heavy losers, have already announced their intention of building substantial business blocks.

Wm. Finn, of Lima, O., obtained excellent results from the use of Foley's Kidney Cure. "It relieved my backache and severe pain over the hips. It toned my system and gave me new vim and energy. It is an honest and reliable remedy, a sure cure for all kidney diseases." Rider & Snyder.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

MICHAEL BAR IS FREE.

He is Pardoned by President McKinley.

Washington, Aug. 22.—President McKinley has returned to the department of justice a number of cases placed before him for executive clemency. He granted seven pardons outright, commuted the sentence of three and denied five applications. Among those pardoned was Michael Bar, who pleaded guilty on April 22, 1901, to embezzling $710 of the postoffice money order funds of Canton, O. He was sentenced to imprisonment for two years in the Ohio penitentiary. Bar was a clerk in the postoffice and had reimbursed the government for the loss before he was indicted. There are said to be mitigating circumstances in his case and the petitions for his pardon were very numerously signed by prominent citizens of Canton who were acquainted with all the facts in the case. The attorney general in his indorsement merely says that in view of the facts presented he recommends that pardon be granted.

OXEN FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Result of Pennsylvania Farmers' Election Bet.

Susquehanna, Pa., Aug. 22.—On the eve of the last presidential election Farmer Arad Herton, a Republican, and Farmer Samuel Webster, a Democrat, both of Frost Hollow, laid a wager upon the general result Farmer Herton agreed that in the event of the election of Bryan he would drive his blooded horse from his home to Lincoln, Neb., and present it to the colonel Farmer Webster agreed that if President McKinley was re-elected he would drive his twin oxen from his home to Canton, O., and present them to the President On the night of the election Farmer Webster was kicked by a mule and until lately he has been unable to fulfill his bet. He will start with the oxen on Monday morning next, and expects to make the eight hundred miles in a month. The oxen have taken first prize at several county fairs.

AKRON DEFAULTER LOCATED.

McCrum Heard From in South America.

Akron, Aug. 22.—It is now certain that J. H. McCrum, the treasurer of the Akron Varnish Company, who embezzled about $30,000 of the company's funds, is in South America. A letter was received in Akron today from Mrs. McCrum, stating this fact and also that Mr. McCrum had been very ill.

It is known that the representatives of the Varnish Company traced McCrum to London but there lost him. He did not remain in the great metropolis very long but left on a steamer bound for Australia. It is now very evident that the move was only a blind and that he took passage from some other port where his steamer touched, for South America.

TOO MUCH OF A BOOM.

Newcomerstown has no Homes for Workingmen.

Newcomerstown, Aug. 22.—An unexpected result of inexperienced town booming exists in Newcomerstown at present. A year ago a citizens' committee or board of trade was formed to watch the town's interests. New additions were laid out and manufacturers were induced to locate here until now a house famine exists. Those plants in operation cannot run full on account of the fact that men cannot secure homes for their families while two or three concerns about to start with an entire new set of men look at the prospect with dismay. Indications are that conditions will not be relieved this fall. The board of trade got the industries but did not prepare the town for them

AN EARLY START.

That is What Russell & Company Contemplate.

Russell & Company will begin the making their annual inventory on September 1. This is a month earlier than is usual with the firm. To make the inventory will require three or four weeks, and during this time only such work as is very necessary will be done at the plant. It was stated at the offices on Friday morning that the company was induced to make the inventory so early this year by the excellent prospects for next season, which may involve the resumption a month earlier than is usual in other years.

Mrs Emanuel Swier, of 35 Richville ave., says: "There are some medicines like proven friends, the longer we know them the greater our appreciation. Doan's Kidney Pills stand at the head of the list. Mr. Swier testified to the value of this remedy in the summer of 1896, a short time after getting the supply at Baltzly's drug store and taking a course of the treatment. He had overtaxed his back and kidney trouble followed. Doan's Kidney Pills cured him. He just as enthusiastically endorses the remedy today as he did when it was first brought to his notice."

A MOUND OPENED.

Indian Relics Found on Everhard Farm.

C. L. BAATZ DESCRIBES THE FIND

Arrow Heads and Stone Implements, Some of Which are of More Than Ordinary Interest to the Archaeologist.

"Mound No. 1 is reached by taking the West Main street car to Columbus street, then due south one-half mile near the woods on the old McCullough farm (and two hundred yards west of the oil well drilled several years ago.) The mound is located on one of the highest points around this locality. It overlooks the entire city, and one can see in all directions (excepting south, where the woods obstruct) for a distance of from one to seven or eight miles. It lies on an incline facing the east. The timber has been removed from it for nearly twenty years, and not even a shrub was growing upon it. Considering its height, therefore, one could see its outline very clearly, more so than the photograph shows, and considering the fact that we have several amateurs in archaeology in Massillon, it is surprising that the mound was not discovered long ago.

"The mound is twenty-six feet and seven inches in diameter, and two feet and two inches high, being nearly flat on the top, and as near as I could measure, was as round as a ring. Mr. Rose, the tenant on the farm, gave us permission to open it, with the understanding that we replace the moved earth. So on Friday, August 17, the writer, in company with William Tasker, S. M. Baltzly (photographer) and J. C. Albright, Jr., went to the site, and commenced to dig by starting a trench on the west side, four feet wide, on a line to the center, following the sod line for eight feet, where we found it disturbed to a depth of one foot eight inches below the natural surface, or to a bottom of very tough blue clay, on which we found evidence of fire, in the shape of ashes and small fragments of charcoal. We then removed the top ahead of us until we had regained the sod line all the way around the depression or basin, and found it five feet in diameter, and filled with ashes and a peculiar substance that may have been the remains of a human burial, but nothing positive, not even a tooth. Our first find was in the south edge of the basin, three feet and eight inches from the top of the mound, and nearly fourteen feet from the place of beginning. It was a fine, hard sandstone stone, flattened on one side, and it is so (naturally) shaped as to fit the hand and may also have been used as a hammer stone.

"Then I noticed that the earth was all permeated with a fine red paint, which is frequently found in mound burials, and in this mass, I found the two small arrows shown on each side of the slate ornament. Next I found the slate specimen shown in the center of the cut. This I consider very interesting, from the fact of its ornamentation. Eleven notches are cut on one end of the specimen, and thirteen on the other, while on one edge there are twelve, and on the other thirteen. On one side near the hole are seven incised short lines. On the flat side near each end are efforts at ornamentation. At one end is a triangle, laid out in sections, with nine sections at the base, while at the other end are three parallel zigzag lines, running across the whole piece. Near the center is a concave hole, drilled from opposite sides, which was done with a flint drill. On the other flat side, there are twelve straight lines starting at notches on the edge, and running across to the notches on the other edge.

"In my cabinet I have a dozen or more of the same type, but none to compare with this on account of the decoration, which is rare indeed. Above the slate specimen is the next find, a nice four and three-quarter inch black spear head. To the left of the hammer stone, is our next find, a pelet of green stone, very hard, about five inches long, and showing a good cutting edge and polished nicely; another, resembling a small celt of a softer material, which was probably used as a polishing stone. To the right of the hammer stone are, first, a natural formation resembling a celt, and next a soft stone, of a deep brown color, probably used to make paint. Under the hammer stone are five pieces of earth, showing the paint as it permeated the earth surrounding the specimens found. The whole find was in a space less than one foot square. In conclusion, while the find, commercially speaking, is not rich, yet while found so close to the city, it becomes interesting. The mound was never under cultivation, hence we found it nearly at its original height."

ROOSEVELT CHILDREN ILL.

Two of Them In a Hospital, at New York.

New York, Aug. 24.—Vice President Roosevelt's youngest child, Quintin, 4 years old, is now in Roosevelt hospital as well as his sister Alice. The boy was operated upon Thursday by Dr. George E. Brewer, one of the visiting surgeons in the hospital. It is expected that he will be well in a reasonable length of time. The vice president spent all Friday afternoon by the beds of his children.

Miss Alice Roosevelt, the vice president's eldest child, was operated upon a week ago Thursday. She had an abcess of the jaw and the operation she underwent was very successful. It is expected she will leave the hospital today. Colonel Roosevelt and his wife secured a private apartment in the hospital for themselves, so they would watch the progress of their daughter, and they will continue to keep the room while their boy is ill. His unexpected serious illness has somewhat upset the plans of the vice president, but, it is believed, not seriously.

GUESSING CONTESTS LEGAL.

Newspaper Opinion Rendered by Attorney General Knox.

Washington, Aug. 24. — Attorney General Knox rendered to the post master general an opinion in the case of a western newspaper which some time ago inaugurated a guessing contest, offering prizes for the best estimates of Pan-American exposition admissions.

The attorney general says that unless plainly forbidden by law the remedy is with congress and not with the department, and continues: "I am unable to reach the conclusion that the giving of prizes as a reward for superior intelligence in estimates where the human intellect is exercised in making such estimates, is within the purview of the statute."

RURAL DELIVERY BOXES.

The Government Wants to Secure a Uniform Pattern.

Washintgon, Aug. 23.—Complaints have come from all parts of the country over the rules and regulations which the department has furnished governing boxes to be used on rural free delivery routes. Ever since the unusually large extensions under the appropriation for the last fiscal year, the department has faced a problem in the rural free delivery boxes. It has been accused of enforcing unusual, rigid and unnecessary rules in relation to the boxes, and the most recent claim made in some of the rural districts is that the boxes authorized by the department are too expensive. Some of the rural free delivery carriers have complained that the latitude which has been given by the department in permitting the patrons of different routes to select from a number of different styles of boxes has resulted in great inconvenience to them. The carriers say that four or five different styles of locks make it necessary for them to carry a large bunch of keys and to waste time in the selection of the right key to apply to the boxes as they pass along their routes They have been placed at different elevations by the roadside, some open from underneath, some on top and others at the ends or sides. Some of the boxes can be opened by the carrier from his seat in his vehicle, while with others it is necessary for him to alight.

The problem facing the free delivery division of the department is further complicated by the fact that a large number of newspapers have given boxes to their patrons, as subscription premiums. The rules of the department for a time forbade their use, and this placed the publications in question in the light of acting in bad faith toward their patrons. An order was issued permitting the use of these premium boxes. When the claim was made that the boxes which were prescribed for use by the department were too expensive, twelve different designs were selected, ranging in price from $1.25 to $12, and permission was given for their use, the only reservation being that the boxes on any one route should be of uniform design. Complaint arose over this regulation, and finally the department ruled that boxes of any one of the twelve designs approved by the department might be used indiscriminately on all routes.

In spite of these changes and concessions, complaints continue to pour into the department over the boxes in use. Just in proportion as the rural free delivery routes are extended do these complaints increase in number. Postoffice officials now say that the matter will not be finally settled unless there is action by congress. At the next session it is possible that authority will be asked by the postoffice officials for definite regulations governing the style of boxes used. One proposition is that the department ask in open market for competitive plans and specifications for boxes. A competent, skilled and impartial committee will pass upon the designs submitted, and one of them will be selected. The government will then ask for bids for their manufacture, with the proposal that a royalty of 5 cents, or some nominal sum, on each box be paid to the designer. Another proposition is to have them made of a uniform design by the government and have them rented at a certain rate, perhaps 15 cents a quarter. It is urged in favor of the latter plan that through the inspection system which would be put into force the boxes could be kept in much better order.

SAGELY THEY OPINE

Navarrites Think New Line But a Link.

THE MERCHANTS FEAR IT NOT.

A Few are Eager for the Battle of Prices With Their Massillon Brethern—The Navarre News Ready for its Epitaph—When Navarre is a Great City.

Navarre, Aug. 24.—The electric line between Massillon and Navarre, most people believe, is to form a link that will connect the Canton-Massillon Company's lines with another road that is to be built from the south. News of the purchase of the Canton-Massillon Company's lines by some syndicate is expected every day. The rails of the Navarre extension, which have been laid down Main street to the square, have been covered with gravel, so that wagon and carriage traffic on the thoroughfares is not interfered with.

When there seemed a probability that a power-house would be located in Navarre, the progressive citizens took up the question of lighting the village by electricity. But they did not receive hearty and unanimous support. It was contended by many that the oil lamps, which were good enough for their fathers and their fathers' fathers, ought to be good enough for them.

Not many of the business men of the village fear the electric line. There are some, of course, who feel sure that Massillon will receive more patronage from Navarre than Navarre will receive from Massillon, but even they are taking the matter philosophically. Others point to the Massillon-Canton situation and insist that it is not always the large city that has the best business houses or which does the most business. Councilman Loew, of the firm of Loew & Swaller, grocers and saloon keepers, though saying that he felt the electric line would not be a personal benefit to him, nevertheless favored it, on the ground that it would be a benefit to the village generally

The Navarre News died a quiet death, Friday, without having had more than half a chance to live. It was almost a year old. Editor Gorsuch, a month after he established his paper, took ill and, after months of suffering, died. Mrs. Gorsuch, though familiar with country weekly work, was constantly required at her husband's bedside, and so the paper was never what it was the Gorsuch's idea it should be. Thomas Doyle, of Massillon, who had charge of the mechanical department, loyal to his employers' interests, took upon himself much of the work of other departments, and never allowed the journal to miss a publication day. The plant is to be moved to Woodville, O., where a son of Mr. Gorsuch is conducting a paper. Mr Doyle will also go to Woodville.

There are many citizens who still believe that the Massillon yards of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway will yet be removed to this place. The station now stands in the midst of a network of tracks laid to accommodate trains bound in four different directions, all making connections at the one point. A residence just opposite the station is being converted into an eating house for the accommodation of passengers. It frequently happens that the four trains bring in a thousand or more people who have an hour or so's time in which to see the village. Refreshment places in the immediate neighborhood of the station do well. There are hours during every day when Navarre, in the station vicinity, takes on a metropolitan appearance. With men at every train calling out the main points to which it goes, hundreds of passengers hurrying hither and thither, the clanging bells and the screaming of whistles, it is hard for one to believe that it is not Chicago or New York.

FRIDAY, 7:30 P. M.

Heretofore we have held no Friday evening session but the music committee proposes to vary the programme by giving a graud musicale. This will be given by representatives from the several Sabbath schools of the township assisted by Miss Jennie Archer, soloist, and Miss Ceridwen Thomas, reader. Watch for the full programme for the evening in next week's issue of this paper.

The sessions will be regulated by sun time.

Although the entire programme will be carried out by the best available talent the committee wish to call special attention to the evening lectures to be given by Rev. S. Ezra Neikirk and Rev. H. J. Becker, D. D.

Rev. S. Ezra Neikirk is known throughout the state as a lecturer of wonderful ability. Wit and humor are characteristics of all his lectures and his "Ananias Club" promises entertainment for both the wise and the foolish.

Rev. H. J. Becker, D. D., of Dayton, O., is known throughout this land as the man who can expose spiritualism. We are fortunate in getting such able speakers as Rev. Neikirk and Rev Becker. An excellent programme is in preparation for Friday evening. Come and enjoy the convention

A 2:14 PACING

Race Has Been Added to the Speed Classes

AT THE STARK COUNTY FAIR.

Six Fast Ones Already Assured —The Race Will be Pulled Off on Thursday and Will be One of the Best Ever Witnessed in the County.

An additional race has been arranged for at the Stark county fair. Secretary Lehman states that they have arranged to give a 300 purse for a 2:14 class pacing and that there is already absolute assurance that there will be six entries for the event, with good prospects for others. Russell Wilkes and Jessie L. are among those that will take part in the race. It will be run on Thursday, and this will make three corking races for that day, the 2:17 pace, the 2:22 trot and the 2:14 pace

The indications are that the races will all fill and have large fields of starters. Canton sports are race hungry. There has not been any of this sort of sport here this season, and the fair management is arranging to give lovers of the harness performers a rare chance to see good racing.

There is some talk also of some of the owners of local horses getting up a purse among themselves to be contended for at the fair.

There have been no matinee races in Canton this season, not even a match race, and a lot of the fellows with their flyers are aching for a chance to take the measure of each other. Should such a race be arranged it would excite great interest and attract a large crowd from the city.

Would Have Cost Him His Life.

Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Pa., writes: "I have been using Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it gave permanent cure of kidney disease which certainly would have cost me my life." Take nothing but Foley's. Rider & Snyder

The Columbus and Cleveland capitalists who have under way a gigantic scheme to harness the Cuyahoga river for power purposes have encountered an obstacle in the Northern Ohio Traction Company, which owns the land along both sides of the river for a mile above the falls.

The ladies of the First M. E. church and their friends will hold a basket picnic at Meyer's lake on Tuesday, August 27. All those who expect to go are requested to meet at the church in time to take the 1:30 lake car on the interurban road. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Massillon council, Knights of Columbus, worked in the first degree Thursday evening, the candidates being Dr. George V. Ess, Michael Gannon and James Holland, Jr., of this city, and Peter Blank, of Canal Fulton. A banquet at the Milleronian followed the initiation. There were brief addresses by various members.

A cow bell of the kind used in Germany 125 years ago, the property of ex-Sheriff C. A. Krider, of Tuscarawas township, was Friday taken to the Stark county fair grounds, where it will do a double duty as an important feature of the curiosity collection and as the starting gong for the horse races. It is about the size of the ordinary locomotive bell and has about the same sound producing qualities. Mr. Krider prizes the bell very highly as a relic.

Between KN tower and Dunkirk, on the Pennsylvania road, are now employed five hundred men, mostly negroes, at work grading for the second track. The distance is about thirty-four miles. When this stretch of double track is completed the Pennsylvania will have double track from Pittsburg to a point seven miles west of Fort Wayne, a distance of 320 miles. It is calculated to use the second track by the first of the year.

The Ohio climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau for the week ending August 19 says: Good rains except in southwestern and few west-central counties; pastures, late fruit, late garden, and truck crops, late corn and tobacco benefited in most districts; some corn in southwest past help; fall plowing will now be general; oat threshing continued, yield fair; seed clover fair; most potatoes very poor, some decay; tobacco cutting begun; grapes rotting.

John Clark, who with Harry Hardy and David Jones, returned Friday evening from England, was accompanied by his cousins, Miss Maggie Ryan and William Courtney, both of Wigan, England, who will hereafter make this city their home. James Parr, of Lancaster, also came with Mr. Clark. Mr. Parr is a profesisonal wrestler. He claims the championship of England. He will remain in this city for several weeks. Frank and William Jones, of Gas City, Ind., brother of David Jones, returned from a visit to England with the Massillon party.

THROUGH THE RAPIDS.

A Canton Girl Will Make the Attempt.

A special from Niagara Falls to the Pittsburg Dispatch says: Carlisle Graham, who recently went through the whirlpool rapids in a barrel, is arranging for a trip in company with Miss Maud Williard of Canton, O. Miss Williard will go through the rapids in Graham's barrel. If she is swept out of the whirlpool Graham will leap into the river, protected by a life preserver, and swim with the barrel to Lewiston. If Miss Williard is rescued in the pool Graham will make the trip from the whirlpool outlet to Lewiston alone, the distance being four miles through frightfully rough waters. If Miss Williard goes to Lewiston she will be the first woman to go clear through the waters of the gorge.

LIVERY BUSINESS SOLD.

A. D. Volkmor Disposes of His Establishment.

A. D. Volkmor on Friday disposed of his livery business, blacksmith shop and premies located on Factory street to the firm of Koons Brothers, of this city, composed of William Koons and Frank Koons. Mr. Volkmor retained his livery stock and will dispose of the same on Saturday, August 31, at public sale. The new firm will discontinue the livery business but will conduct a boarding and feed table with the blacksmith shop in connection. Mr. Volkmor has been retained by them as the manager of the stable. Messrs. Koons will take possession on September 1.

MACHINISTS' STRIKE.

It Delays Resumption of Operations at Neal Mill.

The strike of machinists at Chicago, where all the heavy driving machinery for the new Neal mill is being constructed, has caused a vexatious delay in the resumption of operations. Mr. Neal stated this morning, however, that he expected to have the wheels going this week or next. Orders for forty car loads of flour for Glasgow, Scotland, are already on Mr. Neal's books, and this will be the first consignment of the product of the new mill to be sent out. Orders are on hand in sufficient number to keep the mill going during the month of September.

OBITUARY.

JOSEPH S. REED.

Massillon relatives of Joseph S. Reed received a message today announcing his death at Atlantic City, N. J., on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Reed, with their two-year-old son, have been at the seashore for several weeks for the benefit of Mr. Reed's health. Death was caused by the infirmaties of age. The body will be brought to Massillon on Sunday.

Joseph S. Reed was 81 years of age. He was born at Millville, N. J., but for the past twenty years has been a resident of this city Until last March he was the senior member of the firm of Reed & Co. His home was at 62 East Oak street. He is survived by his wife and two sons. The eldest is Dr. George M. Reed. The youngest is a son by a second marriage which occurred three years ago. Mr. Reed was an uncle of David Reed, head of the present firm of Reed & Co.

JOSEPH R. TOPE.

Joseph R. Tope, a state hospital patient, died, a victim to entero colitis, on Wednesday morning. He was unmarried and about 65 years of age. He had been in the institution for about a year. The body was sent to his home in Sherodsville for burial Thursday morning.

Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. Chas W. Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never afe without it

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Special Attractions to Please Patrons.

THE TENNESSEANS WILL SING

Plantation Songs and Old Melodies — Trained Animals — Day and Night Exhibitions.

Stark county fair comes on apace. It is less than two weeks until opening day. Farmers who have worked the summer through without rest or recreation, are looking forward to several days of pleasure with friends and relatives at the fair. Families that are separated by distance are looking forward to reunions when all get together at this exhibition. Old neighbors and friends will meet for the first itme for a year, perhaps. In addition to all these anticipated pleasures, there are the special attractions that are sure to please everyone, old and young.

The press cannot praise Slayton's Tennesseeans too highly. This troupe of colored singers will be one of the finest ever secured for the fair. The New North, published at Rhinelander, Wis., says of them:

"A highly enjoyable entertainment—This city was treated to one of the very best musical entertainments ever given here at the grand opera house by Slayton's Tennesseeans. This company is certainly one of the strongest combinations now giving concerts before the American people and merits the patronage of all lovers of pure melody. It is a pleasure to speak in praise of these dusky artists, for their rendition of the old songs we all know is beyond criticism and of the purest order. Every member of the company is an artist and every number was given an encore that was participated in by every member of the audience. The appreciation was more general than has been accorded any company here for years."

TRAINED ANIMALS.

Dubec's trained animals, which will give exhibitions daily and nightly in front of the grandstand, are another attraction that has been secured for the entertainment of patrons of the fair. No society in Ohio is making a greater effort to please the public. Dubec's animals are nicely trained and perform tricks that are marvelous. They show almost human intelligence and excite wonderment from all who see them. That they are first class is shown by the engagements that they are filling, being at the most fashionable watering places during the summer. It was fortunate that the fair management secured them, as their time is generally fully taken up with engagements.

The reduction of the grandstand charges from 25 to 15 cents will prove a popular move with the public. This will enable all to get into the grandstand without so large an outlay of money. From that point all the special features can be seen to advantage.

Everyone should arrange to attend the fair. The races will be fast and hotly contested, it is expected. Every exhibit will be large and attractive with the possible exception of horticulture. Other displays will more than counterbalance any falling off in this department. Don't fail to attend the fair. Not one day only, but every day.

In cases of cough or croup give the little one One Minute Cough Cure Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take; always safe, sure and instantaneous in effect. Chas. W. Cupples, 130 W. Tremont St.; Rider & Snyder, 12 E. Main St.

Daniel Bantz, of Otterville, Ia., says: "Have had asthma and a very bad cough for years, but could get no relief from the doctors and medicines I tried, until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It gave immediate relief, and did me more good than all the other remedies combined." Rider & Snyder.

O. O. Buck, Beirne, Ark., says: "I was troubled with constipation until I bought DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Since then have been entirely cured of my old complaint. I recommend them." Chas. W. Cupples, 139 West Tremont street; Rider & Snyder, 12 East Main street.

High living, intemperance, exposure and many other things bring on Bright's disease. Foley's Kidney Cure will prevent Bright's disease and all other kidner or bladder disorders if taken in time. Be sure to take Foley's. Rider & Snyder.

Mrs. S. H. Allport, Johnstown, Pa., says: "Our little girl almost strangled to death with croup. The doctors said she couldn't live, but she was instantly relieved by One Minute Cough Cure." Chas. W. Cupples, 139 W. Tremont St.; Rider & Snyder, 12 E. Main St.

A special meeting called for the Knights of St. John Tuesday evennig Aug. 27, at 8 o'clock in their hall. Every member is requested to be present. After meeting a drill will take place. Come with sword and belt. L. L. Volkmor, president.

MYERS' SCHOOL REUNION.

Old Schoolmates Meet and Spend the Day Together.

Although showers interfered to some extent, the fourth annual reunion of the teachers and pupils of the Meyer's school in Tuscarawas township, west of the city on Thursday proved to be a successful and enjoyable occasion. Between two hundred and fifty and three hundred people were present and regrets were received from many more. A large number of those in attendance were from Massillon. Part of the exercises were held on the school and church lawns. The speaking took place in the church. John J. Wefler presided at the exercises, the president, A. Y. Gordon, being absent. The feature of the day was the historical address delivered by Dr. M. M. Moffit, of Washington, D. C., in the afternoon. Other speeches were by C. M. Smith, E. G. Bowers, James Oberlin and L. P. Slusser, of Massillon, while remarks were made by many others who were called upon by Mr. Wefler. The election of officers was postponed upon motion.

Miss Jennie Archer and Mrs. J. F. Clokey, of Massillon, were the soloists, and their selections were appreciatively received. During the showers, which drove the people under shelter, William Crossland, of Wilmot, conducted singing exercises, a feature that was not on the original programme for the day. The Wilmot band was present and played during the day.

Cash prizes were awarded to the winners in the programme of sports. The events and their results follow:

Girls under twelve years—Miss Green, of Massillon, first; Miss Walters, second; Miss Lucy Shorb, of Massillon, third.

Boys under twelve—H. Swisher, first; E. Moyer, second; J. Wilson, third.

Boys under fifteen—F. Shilling, first; John Obendorf, second; B. McFarren, third.

Men under twenty-five — John Swisher, first; Jerry Agler, Wilmot, second; M. E. McFarren, Osnaburg, third.

Men above forty-five—C. Stansbury, first; William Meese, Wilmot, second; I. M. Snavely, third.

Among those present from Massillon were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E Archer and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Shorb and family, J. L. Green and family, Mrs. Clarence Spidle, Mrs. A. Y. Gordon, Mrs. W. P. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. John George and family, S. F. Wefler and son William Slusser and William Maxheimer, two of the oldest residents of Tuscarawas township, were also present.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

Death of a Well Known Resident of Waynesburg.

Canton, Aug. 23.—Michael Bar, who was pardoned from the penitentiary by President McKinley, on Monday, returned to his home in this city on Thursday.

Jacob Painter, a well known farmer residing near Waynesburg, was run down by an inspection train on the Cleveland & Pittsburg road, Thursday afternoon, and instantly killed. Just why he attempted to go across the track is not known. It is supposed he heard the train, but thought he had time enough to clear the track before the train reached the crossing. The engine struck the buggy and demolished it. Mr. Painter was badly mangled and instantly killed. The horse was not injured. Mrs. Homer F. Cooper, of 615 West Fourth street, is the only child of the deceased.

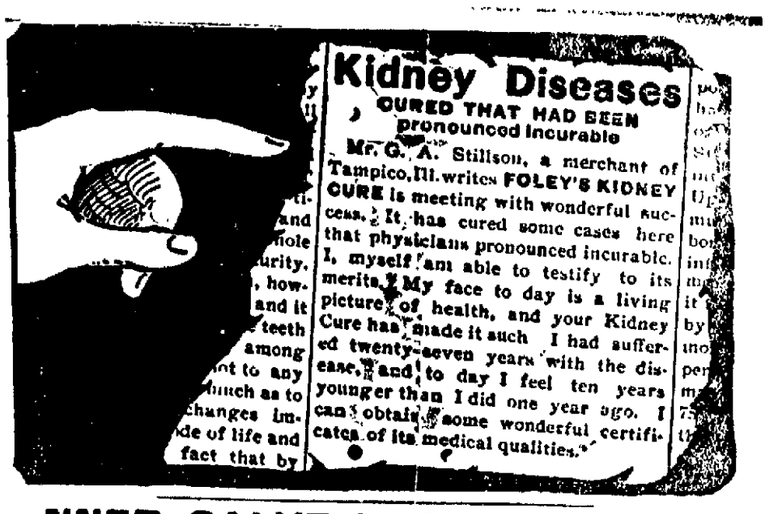
At the Wednesday evening meeting of George D. Harter post, G. A. R., final arrangements were made to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Cleveland which will be held the first part of September. The post has decided to attend in a body. A drum corps composed of veterans from Akron, Carrollton and this city will accompany the post.

In the estate of John Hintz, Perry township, Samuel B. Stern appointed administrator.

In the estate of Joseph Hair, Bethlehem township, petition for sale of real estate filed.

In the guardianship of Thomas Raymond, Perry township, Joseph H. Thomas appointed guardian.

Eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds and sores of all kinds quickly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Certain cure for piles. Beware of counterfeits. Be sure you get the original—DeWitt's. C. W. Cupples, 139 W. Tremont street; Rider & Snyder, 12 East Main street.



Kidney Diseases
CURED THAT HAD BEEN pronounced Incurable
Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill. writes FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I, myself am able to testify to its merits. My face to day is a living picture of health, and your Kidney Cure has made it such I had suffered twenty-seven years with the disease, and to day I feel ten years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qualities.

NNER SALVE is the Great Healer.
